

baun Must Be Freed," and the other, "Unemployed Union, Local No. 1."

At about 3 o'clock Alexander Berkman arrived and began distributing cards bearing a black flag with the word "Hunger" on it. The cards were red or yellow, and read thus:

Extra! Because of our solidarity with the labor unions who have arranged a demonstration at Union Square for April 4, the mass meeting of the unemployed, advertised for the same day, has been postponed till Saturday, April 11, 2 p. m., at Union Square.

Executive Committee, Conference of the Unemployed.

Seventeenth street, between Broadway and Fourth avenue, at that time held about 5,000 persons, including those who came to attend the Central Federated Union meeting. Turner and Gans shouldered their banners and pushed through the crowd. The banners were conspicuous, and about 1,000 men followed them. At Broadway Sergeant James J. Gegan held up the procession and said to Turner:

"Where are you going?"

"We are going to parade down Broadway," Turner replied.

"Nothing doing," said Gegan. "You haven't got a permit."

"I don't care. We're going to do it, anyhow," answered Turner.

Detective Gegan seized the Tannenbaum sign, which came down with a crash on Turner's head. Patrolman John Flynn grabbed the other sign and Gans at the same time. A half dozen mounted and other policemen plunged into the crowd, and there were loud yells as the policemen's clubs came down and the horses' heels reared up.

At least two men were trampled by the horses, but they escaped before their ago," said Berkman, "but now we find that the American Federation of Labor, represented by the Central Federated Union, is here ahead of us. We will postpone our meeting, because we want the people of New York and of the country to see our solidarity with labor, whether organized or unorganized."

The Central Federated Union meeting was without other incident, although a young girl climbed to the stand and tried to harangue the crowd about the arrest of O'Carroll. She was suppressed.

The ninth arrest occurred at the close of the meeting, when Samuel Kappert, of No. 133 Stanton street, was taken into custody for using threatening language to a policeman.

Three hundred policemen in uniform were on hand and 120 in plain clothes mingled with the crowd. They were in charge of Inspector Cornelius F. Cohalan. Police Commissioner McKay was present at the first riot, and Sheriff Grifenhagen during the latter part of the afternoon.

STILL DENY TORREON NEWS

Huerta Officials Again Say City Has Not Fallen

A. L. Jimenez, acting Consul General for Mexico in this city, received yesterday afternoon the following telegram from the Mexican Consul General at large at El Paso, Tex.

"The Secretary of War at Mexico City tells me to advise you that you can deny emphatically the false news from Villa to Carranza about the capture of Torreon. Torreon has not fallen."

Mr. Jimenez also stated that a telegram had been received from Mexico

HUERTA DISMISSES U. S. VICE-CONSUL

Official at Torreon Held to Have Been Too Active for Rebels.

CAROTHERS SAID TO BE WITH VILLA

Government Tells Foreign Legations Northern City Has Not Fallen.

[By Cable to The Tribune.]

Mexico City, April 4.—General Bianquet, the Minister of War, declared to-night that Torreon never has been in the power of the rebels since it was recaptured by General Refugio Velasco several months ago.

The Department of Foreign Relations has cancelled the exequatur of George C. Carothers, American Vice-Consul at Torreon, who now accompanies General Francisco Villa as a sort of semi-official mentor on behalf of the American government.

For some time past the incongruity of Carothers's position has been a topic of comment here, even among Ameri-

What Says Ben Franklin To-day?

PICTOGRAPH NO. 15.

APRIL 5, 1914.

BEN FRANKLIN SAYS:

Name.....
Address.....

PICTOGRAPH NUMBER 15.

ed for his fidelity to Madero in this city in February, 1913.

On the other hand, Pena Argumedo, it is said, was shot, as was Juan Andrew Almazan, the resentment of the rebels toward latter being particularly keen, owing to his having turned against Madero after having supported him. General Velasco's staff is declared to have been spared with their chief at the latter's intercession.

In view of these rumors and many others, some people accuse the government of an ostrich-like policy in the matter of unfavorable news. On the other hand, there are some persons usually well informed, including members of the diplomatic corps, who still refuse to credit the report of Torreon's fall.

What is happening in the Laguna district, indeed, might be happening in the Congo as far as authentic information in this city is concerned.

VELASCO ESCAPES SAN PEDRO TRAP

Continued from first page.

of crumbled buildings. The damage done by shells in Torreon is not so great as it was imagined it must have been. Many buildings have been wrecked and some were burned, but there is not the general desolation which the rebels expected to find in the city.

Medical Facilities Meagre.

Wounded Federals are being looked after by the rebels, and receive the same attention that rebel wounded get. This naturally is somewhat meagre, as there are neither nurses nor surgeons sufficient to look after all, and the supplies of medicines are becoming threateningly low. As rapidly as they can be sent out the rebel wounded are being taken to Chihuahua City and to Juarez. The Federal wounded will be kept here.

Weeks will be necessary before the rebel army will be in shape to resume an active campaign. Food, ammunition, clothing and horses must be secured to equip it for effective service.

The campaign thus far has been costly in all of these, and especially has it depleted the stores of ammunition and reduced the number of horses.

"When Velasco fled he left two hundred wounded in the military hospital. When the rebels entered the place they found only one nurse, Dorothea de La Cruz, in attendance. She said that the other nurses followed the army."

The patients were in a high state of anxiety, for they had been told that Villa took no prisoners. They were reassured by H. S. Cunard-Cummins, the British vice-consul at Gomez Palacio, who entered the hospital first, climbing over bodies of the wounded who had died there. The air was foul with the odor of dried blood. The British official announced that Villa had assured him that none of the wounded would be harmed, and at this those who had the strength raised themselves on their elbows from pallets on the floor and from their cots and cried a feeble "Viva Villa!" The nurse was soothing a dying patient, who, with his last breath, joined the cheering and then sank back dead.

These precautions have been most marked since the appointment of General Ignacio Bravo as post commander, because Bravo, though almost a nonagenarian, has the reputation of being a man who is likely to use summary measures with persons circulating seditious rumors. Those who know him say he is one who, if he thought he had cause, would shoot without compunction and regardless of consequences if conditions reached the point of martial law being declared in the Federal district.

Yet the rumor factory is busy overtime in this city in the absence of authentic information. It is affirmed, for example, that Torreon has been held by the rebels since March 24 and that the reason why the rebels did not give out the news immediately was because they wanted to trap the Federal reinforcements which were being rushed to Laguna City.

It is also declared that the reason why General Velasco's life was spared is that he was in some way instrumental in saving the life of General Felipe Angeles, when the latter was arrest-

MOROSINI HEIRESS KEEPS HUSBAND OUT

Continued from first page.

her two sisters, Agnes and Helen, are to avoid questions is evidenced in the precautions taken to prevent communication with that apartment. An operative of the Burns Agency was at the building several days ago, and since that time no one not in the closest confidence of the occupants has been able to meet those named.

"Mysterious People."

"They certainly are mysterious people," said a hailboy. "No one ever sees them speak to any one. If they go out in that dark blue automobile they use they always walk around the corner first and get in it there. There is no way to get them on the telephone through the house switchboard. If a call comes in over the phone we have to tell Mrs. Redding who it is, and then if she wants to speak to the caller she gives a private telephone number. They've got three private phones there. Not even the tradesmen come in direct conversation with them. They're mighty mysterious."

The same secrecy was even more striking on the grounds of the Morosini estate at Riverdale, known to the neighbors as "Elmhurst." At the side of the country road running from the Hudson River to the subway station runs a high stone wall. The entrance to the grounds is barred by a massive stone archway, under which are hung heavy iron gates. To make precautions more certain, a special watchman in blue uniform stands at the entrance to stop all comers.

In addition to the watchmen, four Burns detectives are stationed at various points in the grounds. When a visitor enters he is accosted by all, and if he should reach the door, still another guard bars access to the house.

Flees from Publicity.

The necessity of these efforts is somewhat hidden by the protestations of the servants that Mrs. Werner is not "at home." It is said that she went to Palm Beach several days ago, where she is staying at The Breakers for recuperation, and will not return until next month. It was hinted, however, that the heiress to the Morosini millions arrived at her home yesterday afternoon, but when she saw the place besieged by reporters and photographers, left by a rear passage in an automobile, to remain away until she could be assured of privacy.

The telephone service not only has been discontinued, but the wires from the trunk lines have been taken down. A messenger boy arriving with a telegram encountered many difficulties before he obtained a signed receipt for the message, in the name of a servant.

While trouble between the former mounted policeman and his wife has been brewing for the last year, it is said, it is only in a comparatively short time that the disagreement reached the climax. Friends of the former horsewoman say that Werner insisted on having his former police friends as constant visitors and in addition was often seen in company with his divorced wife. Finally he hired two of his friends as watchmen and stationed them on the grounds.

The beginning of the love affair between Miss Giulia Morosini and the policeman was seven years ago, when Werner, one of the honor men of the traffic squad, was riding in The Bronx on patrol duty. The heiress, who had been driving a spirited cob, dashed passed him, and Werner saw that the horse was running away. He rode alongside the animal and stopped it.

Then came mutual admiration, and Werner, who was living apart from his first wife, was made manager of the Morosini estate. Mrs. Werner, who was plentifully supplied with money, went to Carson City, Nev., and obtained a divorce, and on January 12, 1911, the marriage of Miss Morosini and Werner was announced at a birthday party given by the heiress.

VILLA AND CARRANZA MEET NEXT WEEK

Chihuahua City To Be Scene and Government Will Then Be Established There.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Juarez, Mexico, April 4.—In the Palace in the city of Chihuahua, where Pancho Villa, three months ago declared himself military dictator of Northern Mexico, an honor he afterward cast aside for the title of general in chief of the army of the north, General Venustiano Carranza will meet the victor of Torreon, and history in Mexico will be made anew.

The meeting appears to be contemplated purely for the moral effect it will have and it is not expected that matters of vital moment to the revolution will be discussed. Following the meeting, it is planned for Carranza to establish the revolutionary government headquarters in Chihuahua.

Ben Franklin Quiz Corner

FRANKLIN QUIZ EVERY ONE'S GAME

Plans of Quiz Arranged Insuring Equal Advantages to All.

"The universal pastime!" That is the Ben Franklin Quiz.

The Tribune's one purpose in the Quiz is to provide its readers and friends with an interest that is wholesome, congenial and popular, in which every one can participate on an equal basis.

The plan of the Quiz is simple. Entrants are under no compulsion, must fulfill no requirements. It's free and open in the fullest sense of those words.

Two books are offered to make the equality of all entrants more real than the theoretic. Poor Richard's Almanack and the Record Book. You know one must allow for the difference in mental ability, education and income between various types of people.

The Almanack equalizes education. It makes it possible for people who know nothing whatever of Franklin or his sayings to enter and compete just as intelligently as those who have studied the man. All the sayings in the Quiz are taken from the Almanack. It is the direct path to the correct answers.

The Record Book equalizes pocket-books. The laws permitting six answers to each pictograph are a great boon to all entrants, but would not benefit the entrant who has not the money to spend for quantities of extra coupons. It permits you to submit the full total of solutions without accompanying them by a single coupon.

The Almanack costs 40 cents, or 45 cents by mail, and the Record Book costs 65 cents, 70 cents by mail. And even if you feel the need of both books to assist you to an award, the outlay is a small sum, considering the education, the entertainment and the splendid awards.

RULES OF QUIZ.

All persons residing in the United States and Canada, except employees of The New York Tribune and its immediate families, are eligible to participate in the Ben Franklin Quiz. No participant need be a subscriber to The Tribune, and no entrance fee of any kind is required.

All formalities are dispensed with, and any person can enter the Quiz at any time during its progress.

The Ben Franklin Quiz consists in the solution of fifty pictographs appearing on fifty consecutive days in The Tribune, each of which represents a saying of Benjamin Franklin.

Solutions are to be submitted on blanks printed for that purpose in The Tribune. Each solution must be written on a separate blank. No solutions are to be sent in until the conclusion of the Quiz.

No more than six solutions will be accepted for any one pictograph from any one participant.

Cash to the amount of $7,150 will be awarded to the 565 participants most successful in solving the fifty pictographs in the following order:

1st award.....$1,000
2d award.....500
3d award.....500
4th award.....250
5 awards, each $100.....500
10 awards, each $50.....500
30 awards, each $25.....750
100 awards, each $10.....1,000
200 awards, each $5.....1,000
400 awards, each $1.....400

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

The person submitting the highest number of correct solutions will receive the grand prize of $1,000.

her of correct solutions will be given the first award, the next highest the second award, and so on with the other awards. Should two or more persons send in the same number of correct solutions the one sending the fewest number of extra solutions will be given the highest award. Should two or more persons send in the same number of correct solutions, and use the same number of extra solutions, the awards tied for will be added together and that amount divided equally between the two or more persons. It is impossible to apply the foregoing rule in case of a tie for an award identical in value with that tied for will be given to each tied participant.

Only one award will be given to one family at one address, although the several members of the family may submit individual sets of solutions. The more correct sets in such a case would receive the award, provided it was entitled to one. One person may submit only one set of solutions comprising not more than six solutions to each picture, and no partial sets of solutions will be considered.

Persons giving fictitious names or addresses or practicing any other deception will be disqualified.

A disinterested committee of citizens of the highest standing in the community, to be selected by The Tribune, will act as judges of the Quiz and make the awards. Among this committee will be:

Mayor John Purroy Mitchel.

President of Board of Aldermen George McAneny.

Mr. H. H. Newell Dwight Hillis.

Rabbi Joseph Silverman.

John J. Murphy, Commissioner of Tenement House Department.

Henry H. Curran.

The services of HASKINS & SELLS, certified public accountants, with offices at No. 50 Broad street, will be secured to audit the Quiz answers. Upon their results the committee of judges will name the winners of the various prizes.

THUMB NAIL SKETCH OF THE BEN FRANKLIN QUIZ.

The Quiz consists in solving fifty pictographs which represent, respectively, fifty sayings of Benjamin Franklin. The pictographs are published one each day in The Tribune. The first pictograph appeared on March 22.

Six solutions may be submitted for each pictograph. Awards consisting of $7,150 go to those who correctly solve the highest number of the fifty pictographs.

Entry may be made at any time without registration.

Solutions are to be kept until all fifty pictographs have been published.

Are You Getting The Tribune Regularly?

You really need The Tribune every day in order to obtain the pictographs. Besides, the advice to entrants will be most helpful to you. Why not become a regular reader of The Tribune? Once you become acquainted with its standard of excellence you'll not want any other newspaper. Tell us your order to the Circulation Department, or write The Tribune.

MAIL ORDER BLANK BEN FRANKLIN QUIZ DEPT.

Date.....1914

The New-York Tribune, New York City, N. Y.

Enclosed is $..... for which send me the items marked below:

Name.....

Address.....

Send money in stamps, postal or express money order, or check.

P. R. Almanack.....45c.

Record Book and All Back Pictographs.....70c.

Back Pictographs.....

No.....

QUESTION BOX.

B. M. F. Brooklyn.—Orders for Almanack and Record Book must be accompanied by full payment.

C. M. D.—The one who solves the greatest number of pictographs wins.

F. A. D. Bronx.—Use full saying.

A. W. T. South Norwalk.—Use separate form for each solution.

F. B. S.—(1) Pictographs may represent any one of several thoughts; (2) first question covers this.

F. M.—Use full saying.

D. E. A.—Don't exclude them. The pictograph may represent only one of several thoughts. In answering use full saying.

R. L. R.—Use full saying.

E. H. L. 112th Street.—(1) Record Book; (2) fifty-five cents at counter and seventy cents by mail; (3) yes.

E. B. Paterson.—(A) Yes; (B) yes.

C. W. N. Y.—Use full quotation.

L. H. K.—If not received, notify this department.

O. J. S.—Answer to L. H. K.

H. H. F. Bronx.—Present edition is imperative.

C. M. B.—Is now on sale.

P. M. B.—(A) Use entire; (B) yes, explanation above.

D. E. A.—(A) Pictograph may represent only one of several thoughts. In answering use full saying; (B) this answer you're question.